Order Granting Joint Motion to Stay

6 v.

7 International Markets Live, Inc., et al.,
8 Defendants

[ECF No. 46]

9
10 Plaintiffs Federal Trade Commission and State of Nevada and defendants Global Dynasty
11 Network, LLC, Matthew Rosa, and Jason Brown (collectively, “GDN defendants”) jointly move
12 to stay all deadlines. Mot., ECF No. 46. The parties indicate that they have engaged in 13 settlement negotiations that resolve all the plaintiffs’ claims against these defendants, however,
14 consideration and potential approval of the proposed settlement could take up to sixty days. Id.
15 I therefore find that a stay of proceedings between the plaintiffs and the GDN defendants is 16 reasonable for purposes of settlement. This stay does not apply to the plaintiffs’ claims against 17 any other defendant.

18 Conclusion

19 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the parties’ joint motion to stay [ECF No. 46] is 20 GRANTED. All deadlines between plaintiffs Federal Trade Commission and State of Nevada
21 and defendants Global Dynasty Network, LLC, Matthew Rosa, and Jason Brown are stayed 22 until August 11, 2025.

23 If the settlement is approved, the plaintiffs must submit the proposed order to the court.
24 If the proposed settlement is not approved, the GDN defendants must file a response to the 25 complaint and motion for a preliminary injunction thirty days after they are notified of the 26

1 rejected settlement. If no decision is rendered by August 11, 2025, the plaintiffs must file a status
2 report addressing settlement on that date.
